He conducted a mission in this city several years ago.

The points in the contest are for attendance and number of Bibles brought to the class study during the period agreed upon. The men of the Fairmont church will no doubt accept the challenge of the Clarksburgers and a lively but friendly contest ensue. The challenge from the Clarksburg men will be taken up Sunday by the men of the Christian church in Fairmont. A general contest between the schools of the Fairmont Christian church and the Clarksburg Christian church will start next Sunday. The points in this contest are for attendance and number of Bibles brought to the Sunday school sessions. A friendly battle no doubt will wage stronger and stronger as the contest progresses. Next Sunday will be promotion day in the grades.

Russell Hill Injured—Diamond street like Banquo's ghost is looming up again with terrors as of old, for drivers and horses. Russell Hill, driver of an ice wagon, suffered minor injuries when his horse fell and his wagon turned over in the deep mud. Hill was under both the horse and wagon when pedestrians passing along rushed to his assistance. Neither horse nor wagon were any the worse off for the experience. The accident occurred at Diamond and Ferry streets where the middle of the street looks like pictures of the Alps.

Miss Fitzwater Here—Miss Beatrice Fitzwater, of the Normal school faculty, who was prevented from taking up her duties at the beginning of the school year by the illness and subsequent death of her mother, was in the city yesterday but returned to her home in Buckhannon. HATFIELD CHALLENGE

(Continued from page 1.) general purposes during the three and one half years of my administration—excepting those items which were expended upon the approval of the Board of Public Works and the Public Service Commission—from September 30, 1912, to June 30, 1916, were $10,716.98. For the same period of Governor Glasscock's administration, ending September 30, 1912, they were $11,150.24. I would be glad to have you or your candidate, Mr. Cornwell, point out to a state whose chief executive has spent an amount less than Governor Glasscock or myself.

My personal expense account during my entire service as Governor from March 4, 1913 to date is less than $1000. The appropriation made by the legislature in 1915—the only legislature that has been convened during my term as governor—in the way of a contingent fund was $20,000 per year, which represents approximately the same amount of money that has been appropriated since the year of 1908 for the Governor's Contingent Fund and the Emergency Fund expended upon the order of the Board of Public Works.

Notwithstanding this recorded fact Mr. Cornwell has been going about the state making the false declaration that my Contingent Fund was more than $31,000. He has not taken the time to inform himself as to the truth of his assertion, or is wilfully misrepresenting the facts, and if I am to reach a conclusion based upon my impression as to his misrepresentation of other things, I must conclude that he is contemptibly malicious in his statements.

Previous to the Legislative session of 1911 appropriations were made by the legislature for the Emergency Fund to be paid upon the order of the Board of Public Works and for the Governor's Contingent Fund; but it was decided that it would be better that the two funds should be combined, and in that session a combined appropriation was made under the head of the Governor's Contingent fund, which was continued by the Legislature of 1912, when the Senate was equally divided politically.

Not one dollar of the money from the Contingent Fund has gone to the payment of detectives by me, as Mr. Cornwell would represent as being the case.

Mr. Cornwell has made statements about many acts of mine as Chief Executive of this state and has criticized my administration. I shall be very glad to discuss with him the record of my administration before as many audiences as he desires and to permit the citizens to conclude as to my official actions. This offer, if Mr. Cornwell is honorable and fair, he should accept, instead of adopting the method of going about the state misrepresenting and maligning me.

Now, if Mr. Cornwell wishes to dismiss the record of my administration, let him for once allow fairness to take the place of the strong partisan inclination and misrepresentation that has attended his every effort in this campaign, as well as his unsuccessful campaign in 1904, and meet me squarely upon the issue he has seen fit to raise. Very truly, H. D. HATFIELD.

INDUSTRIAL FAIRMONT

Antonio Scallise, owner of the Columbia Glass factory, is again a sorrowful and dejected man. The three largest mudholes leading to his factory are almost impassable since the recent rains. The usual smile and cheerful view of Mr. Scallise is obscured and darkened by the worry and trouble that the condition of the street causes him. Every time he sends one of his wagons over the road to and from the railroad freight station he is constantly fearing another wreck or accident which may kill another horse or injure the driver. All summer Antonio hoped that the city officials would finally repair the worst places in the street before the coming of another winter. This hope has now forsaken him. Perhaps he will do as he did last winter, which was to fix a portion of the road at his own expense. But when he does he fears that the city may come along and dig a hole in the middle of the street as they did before. Antonio is a patient man. But some day his patience will be exhausted and then perhaps he and his fifty friends and relations who are his employees and who live in Fairmont and pay their rent and taxes and grocery bills promptly, and are desirable citizens, will leave. Because Antonio is a sensitive and proud man as well as a patient hard worker. He now feels that perhaps the people of Fairmont do not want him here. This feeling hurts him deeper than to have the Board of Affairs and the Chamber of Commerce ignore him.

Every day curious persons gather around the site of the new Fairmont hotel to watch the erection of the steel. This work proceeds with great rapidity and each man employed by the erecting contractor knows just what he is to do and how to do it. The steel members are bolted together as they are placed in position and later will be riveted. It is fascinating to watch the surefooted and cool headed men as they climb about over the work or are swung through the air on the crane load. The large crane in the center of the structure is the one which most persons observe as it is the tallest and most spectacular of the four now in use on the job. Many of those who pause to watch the work, as they pass by, are amazed at the almost human manner in which the large crane operates. Many business men who have seen scores of large buildings erected can not yet understand just how the one man at the monkey engine can make the crane do so many different things.

Much progress has been made in the re-construction of the Fairmont Art glass factory. The building around the furnaces has been completed and now the roof is in place. Installation of the pots and machinery will begin next week and within a month or six weeks the plant will again be in operation.

"Edison Has No Records!"

Certain talking machine dealers say that "Edison has no records." Their statement is true—

but Edison Has Over 1,000 Different Re-Creations

Mr. Edison has a trade-mark on the word Re-Creation as applied to the phonographic reproduction of sound. He alone can use that word, and he alone can actually re-create music. If you own a you do not play Edison "records." You play Edison Re-Creations. If you want to play talking machine records on the New Edison, you must buy an attachment. The New Edison was not made to play talking machine records.

Greatest Catalog Mr. Edison has the world's finest collection of recorded music. Look at his catalog and his new supplements. Listen to typical examples of his new art and be convinced. Already he has more than 1,000 different Re-Creations on sale and new selections are being produced every week.

ONE YEAR AGO THE 3400 r.p.m. CHALMERS CAME INTO BEING; NOW 50,000,000 HAPPY MILES LIE BEHIND IT

Just one year ago the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers was born.

September 30th is its Anniversary Day.

It was untried, unknown, looked a little strange because it was different, and nobody outside of four men knew what it could do.

These four men—the men who had dreamed the car—had little to say.

"What will it do?" they were asked.

"Get in and try," they replied.

And in three days' time every last Chalmers executive had experienced a thrill that was new behind the wheel.

They banged it around in city traffic, abused it on hills, ran it through broken fields, made it take hurdles they would never ask their own personal cars to take.

They were amazed and then they sat down and decided to build three times as many of these cars as they had ever built of any model in a single year before—$22,000,000 worth.

Then behold the situation. Six months later these 18,000 cars were all built. Then 10,000 more were ordered.

And a few days ago we got word that 20,000 more are being built—48,000 of these 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers.

48,000 in all—a $56,000,000 business in a single model!

So you see why we are proud to have a birthday party for the car.

Any car that has 50,000,000 happy miles of use behind it certainly has an interesting history and its birthday anniversary is an event.

Remember this is only its first birthday. So successful has the car proven that the Chalmers Company is continuing to build it right through into next year. So you're safe in getting a car now that won't be obsolete in the spring.

Consider the price, $1090 Detroit.

Come in today. Attend the birthday party.
